Community Reviews for this School

Before graduating from Arapahoe High School in May of 2014, I experienced a school shooting in December of 2013. I loved and was comforted by the staff, students, community, and Arapahoe tribe after that life-changing experience. The support that came out of such a tragedy inspired and continues to inspire me in the face of life obstacles, especially that of bullying. The only change I would like to see happen at such a wonderful school would be to take more care in the mental stability of the students, which would encompass bullying.

I've been an Arapahoe student from freshman year (2014), all the way to senior year (2018). I can honestly say that my time at Arapahoe was wonderful. The staff is content with the subjects they teach and are always willing to help both students and their coworkers. Although most of my experience was fantastic, I do have some downsides to the environment of the establishment. After the 2013 shooting, the school is losing some of what made the school great. They have put into place many new rules that have cut down student choice. Although it's for safety purposes, it makes Arapahoe almost like any other school in the district.

Arapahoe is unlike the rest. A teacher with a bad attitude, no sense of humor, or a lack of empathy would stand out here. Each teacher is passionate, supportive, energetic, wise, and they actively seek to understand the issues/wishes of students. The student body is respectful, driven, energetic, talented, driven, spirited, and connected. Clubs are numerous and unique and the learning opportunities far outnumber most schools. There are classes for jewelry, yoga, scuba diving, weight training, diving, culinary, social dance, law, woodworking, and more. The staff strive to create a positive and safe environment and are always talking or meeting with students and staying after school to help with an event/dub. The building is clean, functional, and decorated. There's not a resource you cannot access nor is there ever a time when you can't get help. Students' physical, social, mental, and educational needs are always met. I wouldn't trade my 4 years at AHS for the world, I'll miss it.

From the past four years at Arapahoe High School, I can confidently say that I feel prepared and ready for college and higher education. While there are many great parts of Arapahoe, such as the variable schedule or off-campus privileges, I believe that the best part of being a Warrior are the teachers. All of the teachers I've known care greatly about the school and their students. Most teachers will meet with students to help them before/after school and during their office hours. As a further testament to the teachers at this school, I and many others have gone back to past teachers for help in a new subject finding that our teachers are glad to help! While the academics can be challenging, the teachers are truly there to help students succeed and achieve their goals.

Arapahoe High School is surrounded by a great community! We take challenges and we rise above them socially, emotionally and academically. The teachers at Arapahoe have influenced not only my desire to further my learning but also have taught me about leadership and kindness to everyone I meet. I think attending Arapahoe and growing from a school shooting and not letting that one tragic event define us shows our strength. Our school motto is "Warriors always take care of one another" and I have found this in the opportunities of student leadership and within the learning environment. I wish that everyone could see the value of our school with a sense of optimism and gratitude for the learning encouraged for the school.
