Heritage High School overall was only ever average. I was never highly disappointed in the school, but I feel as if the school never rose above any other school. In fact, it often fell short of my expectations. The school hyped itself up to be a very inclusive and fun learning environment. This however was not the case. Heritage had a very select group of amazing teachers who were genuinely focused on my growth as a student. The other teachers however seemed to be bothered by learning. The kids at Heritage are also very below average. It is extremely cliquy and judgmental. Overall though, my experience was not terrible. The assemblies are wonderful. The art teachers at Heritage gave me a large appreciation for art and I've started taking an interest in painting in drawing. Some students are amazing, you just have to find them. And it's not the worst place you could be.

I would love to see more diversity in the student body. We're mostly an all white school. For example, we had an African American student that just transferred over. He was not welcome here. He left after 3 weeks of the first day. When I asked him, he said bro, I am the only dark skinned person here! NO BODY wants me here! Overall, the other students won't bother you so that's a big plus on the NO BULLY section.

Heritage High School is a great place to advance your educational pursuits as well as your extracurricular interests. The school is well maintained and offers a fantastic selection of teachers and knowledgeable administrators. This school will challenge you and push you to take multiple advanced placement courses as well as encourage you to partake in clubs and sports- nearly no one does not participate in at least one of the two. Heritage also offers one of those most energetic and passionate student bodies that can be found as students take extreme pride in their school, and display it during every pep-rally. Heritage is a great place to learn.

Advisers are amazing! My adviser took time to help me plan my classes during my time here, and made sure I was ready for beyond graduation. The teachers will help you understand material and everyone at the school is working towards helping you find your best path for after graduation. Classes prepare you for college! Left the school ready for my future!
