I would send my children to Niwot Elementary again in a heartbeat. I couldn't have asked for a more effective, collaborative, and incredible group of teachers and administration to work with my children and teach them the basic skills they need in life - educationally, socially, and emotionally! The differentiation in place throughout the school from the students that struggle the most to the students that achieve at the highest levels is some of the best I have had the privilege of my children experiencing. You can't go wrong with Niwot Elementary! First class administration, teachers, and support staff!

I am currently in high school, so I haven't been here in a while and don't know what changes it's undergone, but I can say that this is a very good school. They have good academics and are generally very welcoming, though sometimes they discriminate against the male students. When I decided to skip the fourth grade, they were incredibly eager to help me along. I'd had several incredible teachers there, and I hope that they are still there to educate and inspire the next generation of children. For a while when I was there, the administration was very strange but I believe that it has since changed hands and the principal after Mr. Kepler (I believe that was his name) was very kind. Good school, slightly strange environment.
