Community Reviews for this School

I loved the community aspect of it. I knew everyone in my class and they all knew me. I was a part of both gymnastics and theatre and being a part of more than one club is common. We had a lot of "jocks" interested in the performing arts. Our robotics team and JROTC teams are excellent. our sports teams aren't so bad either. We had an insane amount of school spirit. I had some really great teachers that I connected with and I still talk to them even though I'm in college. Don't let the bad rap fool you, it's a pretty cool place.

Thomas Jefferson High School has a really small and close-knit community. The teachers here really care about their students and make sure you understand their subjects by making personal time for you. TJ has the CCT program which allows students to take courses like Computer Programming, Robotics, and 3D Animation, which I really enjoy taking! The school is very dedicated to their students and wants to make sure everyone is college ready or just ready for their futures, wherever they may lead!

At Thomas Jefferson your able to explore many different clubs and sports. Staying invloved at Tj is not a problem! Certain teachers are there for your support, Tj does many things to make sure we all are still having fun, most people are open and it's easy to make friends. The only down fall would be admin, admin should be more understanding and listen to the student body. The students shouldn't be ignored or acted like they were heard. Administration are not the ones attending high school, the ones in high school should have more of say to enjoy and feel safe in there environment. Thomas Jefferson is a smaller high school. So instead of having separate lunches and block schedules we are able to do every class and see everyone. Wmth less students things are more familiar within Tj which helps with fitting. Tj helps seniors in the future center to make sure they have a set future before leaving TJ.

Thomas Jefferson was overall a good experience. The atmosphere wasn't very welcoming at first, but that was fixed as time went on. Through the years, we all became reliant on each other with little judgement throughout the school. This environment was slightly more encouraging and so I think we all tried a little harder to be the best we could be, and even more so with most of the teachers making jokes along with us. The material we learned could have been taught a little better because most of the time the teachers didn't explain themselves very well. I feel like TJ didn't prepare us as well as I had hoped for college, but maybe we just made it more difficult than it really was. The school, in my opinion, could be renovated somewhat since most classrooms still have a suffocating atmosphere because it's evident most of the building hasn't changed in a while. Other aspects such as the staff, clubs, and sports are all good.

What I like about Thomas Jefferson High School is it's diversity, location, size, administration, and college readiness. All the aspects of what I like about TJ, are the reasons why I enjoyed my 4 years of school there and definitely would recommend this school to anyone. Although I did enjoy my time there, I would say their could be a little improvements that would make it even better such as food, more activities, and cleaner facilities.
